ICOM-US Webinar Series, “What is a Museum? An Exploration in Six Parts”

This six-part series is being conducted from November 2020 through May 2021 for ICOM-US members. Participants averaged 100+ in number for the first three sessions. The webinars investigate how museums meet their sustainable, ethical, political, social, and cultural responsibilities in the 21st century. Robust discussions from the participants followed the three presentations in each session. The six-part series brings together international museum experts to contribute to the understanding of the challenges museum face and to aid in the development of a new definition for “museum”.
